DODGE ARBITRATION ROCKEFELLER STAND OF COLORADO STRIKE

ing to Put the Blame on the Other.

U. S. TROOPS STOP FIGHT ADMITS MISSION FAILED to Start With Former Employees.

DENVER, May 25 .- Representatives of day with the legislative committee of six which will make an inquiry into the strike situation. It appeared that neither side wants to accept the services of the committee as an arbitrator, but both factions want to put the odium of refusal on the other side apparently.

A detail of United States troops was sent out to-day to quell a minor dis-turbance in the vicinity of Weston, near Trinidad. Four men said to be strikers and two men said to be non-union miners had a fight. The six men were rounded up by mounted soldlers and turned over to the peace officer at Weston. The Forbes mine of the Rocky Mountain Fuel and Iron Company resumed operations to-day with ninety-one men after being closed down since the battle and fire of April 29, when the tipple, mine office and other buildings were burned and nine persons were killed. No objec-tion to the opening of the mine was made by the Federal commander on the under-standing that the men who went back to work had been regularly employed at the mine prior to the time of the shutdown. At the close to-day of the trial of six officers of the Colorado militia on charges growing out of the coal strike riots the military commission announced an adjournment until Thursday morning. The been largely taken away from the people officers tried were Lieuts. C. Bigelow, R. W. Benedict, L. B. Elliott, C. A. Connor and R. J. Linderfelt and Capt, T. C. Lingerfelt and Capt, T. C. Lin time was nessed to prepare the case against Lieut. K. E. Mrs. Alma Lafferty, president of the Colorado Woman's Peace Association, is standing on her "constitutional rights" and thus far has refused to go to Golden as a witness. Her attorney advised her to-day that she cannot be compelled to testify. She said that if the trial had not proved to be a farce she would willingly relate what she learned when as the head of a committee of women she visited the ruins of the Ludlow colony.

UPHOLDS MILITIA TO WILSON.

Denver Woman Tells President Strikers Started Ludlow Fight.

WASHINGTON, May 25.—A suggestion for the appointment of a Federal commission to mediate all strikes, brought forth by the recent Colorado troubles, was made to President Wilson to-day by Mrs. Helen L. Grenfell of Denver, vice-president of the newly organized Law and Or-der League of Colorado.

She presented to him angles of the Colorado situation which have not heretofore been cited. She strongly defended the Colorado militiamen for their conduct in the mine strike regions and submitted strong evidence against the strikers. Mrs. Grenfell said that the truce declared was repeatedly broken, and that in the battle near Ludlow the fighting was precipitated by the disaffected workers and not by the

That His View of Situation Is Right.

Judge Ben. B. Lindsey of Denver and the Colorado coal operators and the mine two women survivors of the miners' war workers had a preliminary conference to- at Ludlow, Col., were the main speakers last night at a mass meeting held in Beethoven Hall, Fifth street, near Second avenue, under the auspices of the Central Federated Union of Greater New York, as a protest against the attitude of the Rockefellers in the Colorado mine

> "The trouble in Colorado is not local." Judge Lindsey said. "It is sectional. It may be that it is the match that will strike a conflagration which will sweep the length of the country. I came on to get Mr. Rockefeller to help us sprinkle down this coal dust which threatens a nationwide explosion, but he does not seem to realize the situation. Well, I can stand it better than he, if it comes.

> "In our State we have a private State within a State. Now we are facing a great industrial problem growing out of the efforts of men who have taken to themselves the natural resources and are using them not for the good of the people but for their growing lust for power.

Doctor's Son, Who Married Girl Roosevelt Shielded, Called Thief.

Joseph A. Young, son of Dr. Clement C. Young of 101 West Eighty-fifth street, was arrested at Times Square last night, the complainant against him being Mrs. Louise Milligan, keeper of a rooming house at 339 West Forty-fifth street. She charged him with taking $85 worth of clothing from lodgers.

Young is the man, according to the police story, who recently married Miss Mable Shore, one of the two Chicago girls who sailed for South America on the same ship with the Rossavel party. the same ship with the Roosevelt party last fail and who were assisted in their return by the Roosevelts when they found that a theatrical engagement made by them was not all it appeared to be.

Young at that time was second officer on the ship which brought Miss Shore and her companion back to this country. They were married shortly after reaching New York. Ten days ago Young told his wife he had important business in Washington and left. Nothing was heard of him until last night, when he called his mother-in-law on the telephone and asked that his wife meet him at Broad-way and Forty-second street. CAN'T KISS HIS BRIDE

New Jersey Prisoner, Who May Die To-day, Remarries His Wife.

TRENTON, N. J., May 25 .- For the first time in the history of the State prison here, there was a wedding this evening in the death house, when Raffaele Longo was married for the second time to Carmancia Longo, to whom he had been married in 1899 in Italy.

The condemned man was not allowed to leave his cell, but stood with one hand holding that of his wife, and the other clasping the two hands of one of his little daughters, as the priest performed the ceremony. Two prison guards and another priest were witnesses. It was said that priest were witnesses. It was said that the second marriage was necessary so that Mrs. Longo might be able to obtain possession of property owned by Longo in Italy.

It was impossible for the condemned man to kiss either his wife or his child, and after the ceremony the wife and child left the death house and Longo retired to his cot, to await the carrying out of the death sentence in the near future, possibly to-morrow night.
